

A pair of weathered, calloused hands, likely belonging to a laborer or a person of manual work, are shown from the palms up. The hands are dark and textured, with visible lines and creases. In the center, between the hands, is a dark, shield-shaped object with a dotted white border. Inside the shield, the word "Servant" is written in a large, white, serif font. Below it, in a smaller white font, is the definition: "noun ser·vant \ 'sər-vənt \
:one that serves others." The background is dark and out of focus.

Servant

noun ser·vant \ 'sər-vənt \
:one that serves others.

Serve at Home

Ephesians 6:4; Colossians 3:21

Weigh your words - They are heavier than you think

- Angry Kids
- Discouraged Kids

Weigh your words - They are heavier than you think

Watch your walk —It's your most powerful parenting tool

Win your children to Christ early and they'll be yours and His forever